Devery of New York, has been one of the notable figures on the boardwalk during the past week. Mr. Devery, whose trenchant remarks on the administrative condition of his native city usually furnish "copy" for seashore correspondents, has so far dodged interviewers at the Hotel Rudolf, where he is spending the month.

Gen. John Adams Halderman, former minister to Siam, is also numbered ministers. He is staying at previous occasions, will again sing the quantity of sait in solution is the principal reason for the buoyancy. While the buoyancy of the water is so great that it will support a person without aid, the boats which are designed to be used upon the lake must be constructed especially to counteract this feature. The ordinary wooden vessel when empty is actually too light to be navigated with safety upon it, since such a small portion of it would be immersed. Therefore care has to be taken, in building sailboats especially, lest they be too pheavy, for this reason navigation is very dangerous on the lake when the wind is blowing even moderately unless the vessel is loaded so that it sits deepenough in the water to counteract the buoyant tendency. The quantity of sait held in solution is so great that it is dangerous for one to swallow even a mouthful of the water, as it is liable to cause strangulation.
